ADJOURNED MEETING

TRUSTEES HEAR PETITION FROM ELECTORS OF FORMER CITY OF TROPICO

The Glendale Board of City Trustees held an adjourned meeting Monday evening at the City Hall at which time a petition was presented signed by 150 electors of the former City of Tropico requesting that that territory be set aside as a special improvement district to be known as Municipal Improvement District No. 1 of the City of Glendale for the purpose of creating an indebtedness to be represented by bonds of said district to pay the cost and expenses of acquiring and constructing works for distributing and supplying water to the inhabitants of said district.

The petition was ordered to be received and was referred to the City Clerk to check up the names of petitioners and certify as to whether they represented the required ten per cent. of the voters of the district.

An application to do street work by private contract was received from E. L. Osborn who wishes to put in some sidewalk on Columbus Avenue, and the same was granted.

No other business was transacted.

POTATOES ALMOST GONE

Mrs. Albert W. Randolph of 865 Glendale avenue, who has been advertising seed potatoes grown upon her Burbank ranch, states that trade is now coming her way strongly as the result of the publicity given her by this paper, and she expects to soon close out her stocks. Mrs. Randolph states that a good many purchases have been made by persons who wanted superior table potatoes, the Randolphs having offered them at current market prices. Mrs. Randolph expresses herself as much pleased with the financial returns from her little investment in advertising.

HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS INTERESTING PROGRAM AND PATRIOTIC SPEECH

The nicest thing about the High School P.-T. A. is the intimacy of its members, their spirit of fellowship. It is this which has created the interest and which brings out big audiences of both men and women to all the programs though it must be admitted the programs are attraction enough in themselves.

The meeting last night both as to audience and program was no exception. Even the business was interesting and it was followed with close attention. The gathering was called to order by Mrs. Nichols, the president, minutes were read by Mrs. Clara W. Puffer, the secretary, and the treasurer reported a balance in the treasury of $14.75.

Then Mr. Sawyer, Chairman of the Employment Bureau was called upon for a report. He told how he had arranged to cover his large field and spread the news about the bureau in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Casa Verdugo and all parts of the High School District by enlisting the school organizations and sending out delegations to canvass the business men in the different sections, and added that to complete the good work that letters would be sent to the parents of all pupils urging them to encourage the boys and girls to earn money for themselves and the government, also asking them to apply to the bureau for any temporary help they might need indoors or out. To show the cordial reception these canvassing pupils had received, Mr. Sawyer called upon Miss Genevieve Lang who covered the Glendale business district and Miss Ruth Ryan who called upon business men in the Tropico district. They gave glowing accounts of the enthusiasm inspired by their explanations of the plan and told of the cordial co-operation and help which was promised them.

In response to the call of the President Mrs. Dement gave an enthusiastic report of the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle at the home of Mrs. Toll which she had attended as the delegate of the Association. Its object, as she explained, is to help mothers to bring up their children more understandingly, more wisely. She expressed the opinion that mothers have great need of such illuminating conferences, and that motherhood per se does not endow a woman with wisdom. She declared that any woman who fails to give some time during the day to her own reading and to reading to her children that she may lead them into the safe and pleasant paths of good literature, is defrauding her family.

Mrs. Wernett reported for the committees appointed to visit the schools and bring back accounts of the new and interesting things they had observed. She confined her observations to the work of the sophomore class and told some very interesting things about the courteous behavior of the students, about the things they said and did in the Latin, French, and higher mathematics classes, but was especially impressed with the work of the domestic science department and the things the girls are making for the Belgian babies, and she seemed very glad to learn that the millinery and sewing classes are open to any Glendale adult the last two periods of the day.

The president then announced the chairmen of these visiting committees for the coming month as: Mesdames Mottern, Powers, Hartley Shaw, and Haun. As that concluded the business of the meeting, she introduced Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Chairman of Patriotism, as the presiding officer of the program. Mrs. Greenwalt in turn called upon Mrs. Adelaide Imler who read a brief statement of the patriotic aims of the P.-T. A. federation, and the pro-

WILL NOT BE DELEGATE

Mrs. Jesse Joseph who was to have been one of the delegates of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of this city at the big convention of club women in Santa Barbara this week, will not be there. Instead she will stay at home and nurse a limb which is now in a plaster cast as the outcome of a peculiar accident. One day last week while watering her lawn with a garden hose, she fell backward into a lily pond. She was not conscious of serious injury at the time nor the next day when she felt lame and sore, attributing her bad feelings to rheumatism. She grew rapidly worse however, and when a physician was called who made an examination it was found that the ligaments and muscles had been torn and she was ordered into a plaster cast. It is very disappointing to her, but she is endeavoring to bear it with philosophy.

WADSWORTH ASSAILS ADMINISTRATION

SENATOR SAYS CONDITIONS ARE DUE TO LACK OF CENTRAL DIRECTING AUTHORITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, February 5.—"Lack of vision has stalled America's war machine," Senator Wadsworth charged in the Senate today. "A greater breakdown than the one from which we are now suffering is threatened unless some directing agency is created," he said. "I entertain the conviction that the end of the war is not in sight, that we shall travel a long and hard road and I feel certain that the strain will grow more and more severe as the months go by. I am not satisfied that we have an organization that will stand the strain."

Wadsworth assailed the administration in much the same manner as Senator Hitchcock did yesterday, making charges against the transportation and shipping systems.

"The war found this country blind, pathetic in its unpreparedness," he said. He blamed conditions to the lack of a central directing authority.

FUEL, FOOD AND FOOLS

Congressman Charles H. Randall of our district in speaking in the House of Representatives on January 25 in regard to the agricultural appropriation bill said:

"Mr. Chairman, the consideration of this great bill, the Agricultural appropriation bill, may well consume four or five days of time. In times of peace agriculture is the most important question of mankind. In time of war agriculture rises higher than the military, naval, or diplomatic affairs of a nation. Agriculture spells life or death for the people of a nation and of the world.

"Just now we are encouraging increased production, and in many ways we are urging conservation of our products—of food and fuel.

"Some months ago the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Agriculture brought before this House a measure designed to conserve food supplies by giving the Food Administration power to save the grains, sugar, and fruits wasted in the manufacture of beer and wine. That act has now been on the statute books for months.

"In spite of that fact, Mr. Chairman, I hold here in my hand a letter signed by Mr. Hoover, the Food Administrator, in which he admits that he is permitting the destruction of 42,000,000 bushels of barley annually in the manufacture of beer. He says nothing about the 2,000,000 bushels of rice, the 10,000,000 bushels of corn, and the millions of pounds of sugar which go into the manufacture of beer, not whisky. All of this after the 30 per cent reduction recently ordered in production.

"I ask the distinguished chairman of this committee, when this barley alone will make four million 1-pound loaves of bread daily, why his committee does not bring in an amendment to his bill making it compulsory upon the Food Administration to save this food?

"And while we are speaking of the food wasted by brewers, let me remind you that the brewers are adding to the problems of the Fuel Administrator also. It takes a pound of coal to make a pint of beer.

"Why, Mr. Chairman, the brewers of the United States use three and one-half times as much coal as all the bakeries do, nearly six times as much coal as all the printers and publishers, nine times as much as the manufacturers of boots and shoes, and twenty times as much as the manufacturers of men's clothing.

"And, Mr. Chairman, the Director General of Railroads finds on his tracks blocking the way of the food trains, the fuel trains, for homes and manufacturers, the munition trains, and the troop trains bearing our boys toward the battle front—literally thousands of cars of coal tagged to breweries and other thousands of cars of beer tagged back again."

Congressman Randall gave statistics to show that the manufacturers of boots and shoes employ 43 times as many people but use only one and a fourth times as much coal as the breweries, that the boot and shoe manufacturers of Lynn employ thirteen and one-half times as many people, pay over nine times as much in wages, but use only one-third as much fuel as the manufacturers of malt liquors in Boston.

"The boot and shoe manufacturers in Boston employ five times as many people, pay three times as much in wages, and use fuel costing only a little over one-half as much as that used by the manufacturers of malt liquors in Boston," he said.

"Which shall we close—the shoe factories making shoes for soldiers or the breweries turning food into alcohol?" Congressman Randall asked.

STILL EXAMINING

EXEMPTION BOARD STRAINS A POINT FOR BENEFIT OF REGISTRANTS

Physicians who are making examinations for the Exemption Board were again at work this morning examining registrants who appeared in response to cards sent out four or five days ago. These boys had come from all parts of the county and it would be an unnecessary hardship upon them to dismiss them all without examination. The Board argued that it could separate the fit from the unfit and thus avoid requiring the unfit to return. The boys who are fit for service may have to come again when the new orders are received. For this reason examinations will continue tomorrow and next day. If the new orders arrive in the meantime, the examinations will be complete, if they do not get here, reexaminations may be necessary to complete the government requirements.

Mattison B. Jones and F. L. Muhleman joined Chairman Lanterman at headquarters this morning and spent considerable time in going over the reports of examining physicians and recording their findings.

Oscar Sweitzer of Burbank, goes forward to Vancouver Barracks to join the Spruce Aviation Department this afternoon.

Robert Ashley Petty of Burbank, will go Saturday to Fort Leavenworth to join the Signal Corps.

The committee in charge of the Red Cross benefit concert to be given on the evening of February 12 is planning to make this something exceptional in the way of a concert. Some of the leading artists of the valley have already promised their services for this event and plans are being made to secure an opera singer of international reputation. There will be a whistling soloist. Among the local artists already secured are Mrs. Roy Masters and Julius Kranz.

All of the members of the Red Cross are expected to attend this concert and to invite others to attend. Miss Alice Frank is in charge of the program.

City Clerk Sherer has been sending out sample ballots for the annexation election to take place in Grand View District on February 5th, the job not being a very strenuous one as there are only thirty-one voters in the district.

KILLED IN FRANCE

NEWS OF THE DEATH OF LIEUT. ANTHONY HAMMOND JUST RECEIVED

The sad news has just reached Glendale friends that Anthony Hammond who spent two years here while connected with the Kalem film company was killed in action in France on November 28. While in Glendale Mr. Hammond lived with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Gillette who have just received from his mother, Mrs. Edith Hammond at Ryburg, Norfolk, England, a letter bearing the heartbreaking news. Mr. Hammond left here some two or three years ago to join the British army and soon won his commission of lieutenant in spite of his youth, being in his early twenties. His older brother was killed in action some time previous.

HOW CROP REPORTS ARE MADE UP

The returns from each class of reporters are tabulated and averaged separately as a check one against the other. The county totals are weighted; that is, a county which produces five times as much of a particular crop as another receives five times the importance or "weight" of the other county in determining the average for that crop.

Every possible precaution is taken to prevent the totals for any of the so-called speculative crops, such as corn, wheat, oats, and cotton, from becoming known to any individual prior to the date fixed in advance by the Secretary of Agriculture for the issuance of the crop report. Even the computers who make up the totals do not know the States to which they pertain, and the final telegraphic reports and comments of the field agents relating to the speculative crops are kept locked in the office of the Secretary until crop-reporting day, when they are turned over to a crop-reporting board, and the entire board is immediately locked in until the minute that the report is issued, guards being stationed at the doors, and all telephones disconnected.

The data supplied by the field agents, crop specialists, and various classes of voluntary crop reporters are considered by the crop reporting board, composed of the chief of the bureau, the assistant chief of the bureau, the chief of the division of crop reports, two statistical scientists, and one or more field agents called in from different States each month, all of whom are expert judges of crops and have had many years' experience in analyzing, interpreting, and summarizing crop data. In addition to the special data sent in each month by the field force, the crop reporting board has all other data which are available, such as the Weather Bureau reports, and such crop reports as are issued by State authorities, private crop-estimating agencies, associations, and others. From all these data each member of the board prepares his own individual and independent estimate for each crop and State. These are compared, discrepancies are discussed and explained, and a final figure is adopted by the board.

It is believed certain that the crop reporting board has before it at its sittings more complete, detailed, and accurate data than any other crop-estimating agency in the world. The members of the crop reporting board, like all other department employees who have anything to do with crop estimates, are prohibited by law, under severe penalties, from giving out any information in advance of the official crop report, and from knowingly compiling or issuing any false statistics.

Wherever it has been possible to secure an absolute check, the crop reports of the Department of Agriculture usually have been found to be surprisingly accurate.

TRAINING FARM FOR GIRLS

A training farm for girls who wish to learn farm work is, it is announced, to be opened in Illinois, not far from St. Louis. Several hundred young women, who are to replace young men on the farm, are expected soon to take their first lesson. These girls are not to be asked to do the heavy work of farm cultivation. They will neither plow the soil nor toss hay, but it is thought that they can replace men in the matter of driving cultivators, and in other light field work. The enthusiasm with which the opportunity has been received, by a large number of young women, would indicate that the training farm will have applications for more than it can accommodate. Instruction is to be confined to farming. The tilling of the ground for vegetables, the care of poultry, milking, and other activities are to be taught elsewhere. One of the great needs of the hour is the release of men from many occupations so that these workers can take up tasks which women cannot well do. This is in the line of rational distribution of war emergency labor.—Christian Science Monitor.

HARBORS ON THE PACIFIC COAST OF THE UNITED STATES

The Pacific coast of the United States, having a total length of about 1,100 nautical miles from the Mexican boundary to the Strait of Juan de Fuca, has comparatively few harbors of refuge or entrances from sea which are available for vessels in heavy weather.

San Diego, a harbor of refuge, is about 10 miles northwestward from the Mexican boundary and Los Angeles Harbor is 90 miles northwestward of San Diego.

There is no real harbor between Los Angeles and San Francisco, a distance of 367 miles, although there are open roadsteads at Santa Barbara, 87 miles north of Los Angeles; at San Luis Obispo, 80 miles north of Santa Barbara; and at Monterey Bay, 120 miles north of San Luis Obispo and 80 miles south of San Francisco entrance. San Francisco is one of the important harbors on the Pacific coast.

Between San Francisco and the Strait of Juan de Fuca, a distance of 663 nautical miles, there are five bar harbors which may be safely used by Coast and Geodetic Survey vessels as harbors of refuge while surveying the coast. These are Humboldt Bay, 221 miles north of San Francisco; Coos Bay, 155 miles north of Humboldt Bay; Columbia River, 170 miles north of Coos Bay; Willapa Bay, 25 miles north of Columbia River; and Grays Harbor, 15 miles north of Willapa Bay. From Grays Harbor to the Strait of Juan de Fuca is 95 miles. The Strait of Juan de Fuca is an entrance from sea which is always open to vessels.

Between San Francisco and the Strait of Juan de Fuca there are also harbors with bars at Coquille River, Umpqua River, Siuslaw River, Yaquina Bay, and Tillamook Bay which are available for vessels of the Coast and Geodetic Survey under favorable conditions of tide and weather when the bar is not breaking.

THE UNIVERSITY'S WAR ACTIVITIES

President Benj. Ide Wheeler in his report to Governor W. D. Stephens, just published, comprehensively reviews the part that the University of California is playing in the war activities of the nation. President Wheeler points with pardonable pride to the fact that the majority of the departments of the State University are either directly or indirectly concerned with war work.

The University President traces the war activities of the institution under his control from the time that the Board of Regents formally offered to the national government the entire resources of the University for use in meeting whatever needs might arise in prosecuting the war. Immediately following this offer President Wheeler states that a complete survey of the available resources of the University was made and transmitted to the Governor for the State Council of Defense. Also, the Alumni Association carried on a survey of the personnel of the alumni and faculty, with a view to determining the availability of these persons for various types of national service.

CERRITOS AVENUE P.-T. A.

It was conceded by the large and appreciative audience that taxed the capacity of the auditorium of the Cerritos Avenue school Friday afternoon, that the program rendered on that occasion by the Parent-Teacher Association was the best and most interesting one that has been rendered this season.

Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, parliamentarian in her usual charming manner conducted a very instructive drill in parliamentary rules and ethics. Following the salute to the flag, led by Mrs. Adelaide Imler, patriotic instructor, and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," by the audience," Mrs. Ella Richardson, president of the P.-T. A. in a most able manner conducted the usual business session.

Mrs. Adelaide Imler, as patriotic chairman, introduced Mrs. Frances Richardson Chamberlain who is noted as the Flag Lady, from the fact that after preparing the history of the flag, with many illustrations, she has devoted years to visiting the public schools, clubs, patriotic organizations and various societies, not only in California, but throughout the entire United States, delivering the splendid history of the birth of our nation's emblem.

The beautiful and interesting history of the flag, as told by Mrs. Chamberlain Friday afternoon thrilled her audience with a patriotic fevor and zeal.

Many facts hitherto unknown by many, were told in an interesting and entertaining manner by the loyal woman, as to leave lasting memories. When one sees Old Glory waving in the breeze he will not soon forget that the stars and stripes is the oldest flag of all nations. Also that the committee who waited upon Betty Ross, the little widow of Philadelphia and requested her to make the first flag, was composed of Gen. George Washington, Major Morris. Colonel Ross designed the flag for this country.

At the conclusion of the splendid address by Mrs. Chamberlain this interesting entertainer was given a rising vote of thanks.

Mrs. Arthur Brown, president of the Federation P.-T. A. and M. R. Dickinson, principal of the Cerritos school each gave patriotic talks.

Following the singing of "America" the exercises closed. Not one present regretted the fact that refreshments had not ben served for was not the feast of the intellect and the thrill of patriotism far better than catering to the inner man?

THE GRAND BALL

All of the Most Exalted Chiefs of the Pythian Sister organizations have been given territory to canvass for the sale of tickets for the splendid Red Cross Benefit which is to be given February 12th by the Knights of Pythias and affiliated organizations in Los Angeles, February 12th, at the Shrine Auditorium. The territory was distributed by lot and Mrs. Florence Cook, Most Excellent Chief of La Halla Chapter of Glendale was so fortunate as to draw the Alexandria Hotel. She is not confining her work to that however, but is speeding up sales all along the line. Tickets have been placed at Red Cross Headquarters, 340 Brand boulevard, and with the librarian of the Tropico Branch in the City Building at the corner of Brand and Tropico avenue, also with the B. and B. store on San Fernando boulevard, and with several drug stores and cigar stands in the city. The returns from tickets sold will go to the treasuries of the local Red Cross organization where the sales are made, therefore all tickets sold in Glendale will help Red Cross work here.

The grand march at the great hall will take place at ten o'clock when all the different orders will march in their special robes and regalia and it will be a very spectacular scene.

There will also be a splendid entertainment for those who do not dance put on by celebrated entertainers who are glad to give their talents for the good of the cause.

All members of General Richard Gridley chapter are urged to be present at Thursday's meeting. Delegates to the state convention and to the National convention at Washington will be elected.

RED CROSS NEWS

The new class of surgical dressings at headquarters of the Glendale Chapter Monday, surpassed in numbers the expectations of the instructors and entered upon the work with enthusiasm. It included the following recruits:

Mrs. C. Farnham,
Mrs. Nunn,
Mrs. Sawyer,
Mrs. Musser,
Mrs. Goeneay,
Mrs. Pingree.
Mrs. Walker,
Mrs. Hawkins,
Mrs. Earle,
Mrs. Case,
Miss Blackburn,
Mrs. Flint,
Mrs. Massak,
Mrs. Kimball,
Mrs. Burchfield.

Business Manager A. L. Lawshe, Superintendent of Schools R. D. White, Chairman of the School Red Cross Auxiliary work, and several of the teachers in the Glendale schools who are interested in the work with him, are attending a Junior Red Cross conference in Los Angeles called by Mrs. Kluegel, Director of Junior Memberships for this coast, which is being held at headquarters in that city today at one o'clock.

In order to encourage work in the Surgical Dressings Department, tea and coffee will hereafter be served at noon at Red Cross headquarters on Brand boulevard to supplement the lunches which the ladies will bring from home, in order that they may have their usual comforts without additional expense.

Also, aprons are to be provided for the use of transient workers.

Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Chairman of Comfort Bags, has resigned. Continued illness has made it impossible for her to continue. She wishes to express her appreciation to all who have helped her at any time, especially Mesdames H. H. Faries, A. C. Andersen and C. Griffith, who have acted as sub-chairmen for her.

Last, but not least, Mr. A. T. Cowan for the many courtesies received through the Glendale Evening News.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Sophomore Dance, which usually comes off on St. Valentine's night, will not take place this year. School authorities have decided that it will be wrong to spend the money in that way and thrift stamps will be purchased with the funds instead.

The new freshmen from the Intermediate and Cerritos Schools have come into the High School and received the glad hand in a quiet way. Members of the Girls' League will probably give a party in their honor in the near future.

Boys of Union High have adopted a sort of undress uniform to save wool as a patriotic measure and are wearing khaki trousers with leggins with their plain coats.

UNEXPLAINED FIRE

A rather mysterious fire occurred Monday evening between seven and eight o'clock at the business block 213 San Fernando Road, the upper portion of which was formerly occupied as Hotel Tropico. It is no longer used as a hotel and the only tenants of the building are Mrs. J. F. Rifenberick, mother of one of the owners, Mrs. Forster and her son who were occupying two of the apartments of the former hotel.

Mrs. Reifenberick had just seated herself with her Red Cross knitting when she heard the cry: "The hotel is on fire." A hurried investigation disclosed the fact that an awning in front of one of the unoccupied store rooms which was drawn up and resting against the front wall of the building was in flames. Hose was immediately attached to faucets and with it the fire laddies who came at once in response to summons extinguished the fire without making use of engine or chemical apparatus.

Mrs. Reifenberick is much mystified about the origin of the fire which was altogether outside of the building and on a portion which is entirely unoccupied either above or below and considerably out of reach. The only damage was the scorching of the paint of the window frames and the breaking of glass in the upper windows in the neighborhood of the blaze. The fire was discovered by a lady on horseback who was riding by and gave the alarm.

Mrs. Reifenberick who is chairman of the socks department of the local Red Cross Auxiliary and one of its most efficient and respected workers, spent a rather anxious night after the affair but says she discovered during her wakeful hours that the boulevard is splendidly patrolled by the city night watchmen who have that beat and feels reassured as to her safety hereafter.

CHARITY ROOMS OPEN

The Charity rooms at 1208 West Broadway under the auspices of the Federation of Clubs are open now, and people having clothing, groceries or other articles to give for charity purposes are earnestly requested to bring them to this room.

MRS. E. S. McKEE,

The regular meeting of the N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps will be held Friday, February 8th, at 2 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

Adjournment.

WHEN THE PINCH COMES

When certain business interests unite to raise an advertising fund to bring tourists to California and the county is asked to join with them in contributions it is questionable if the best citizenship is being displayed at this particular crisis in the world's history.

True, California expected a big influx of tourists at this time and only a part of those expected have come, and naturally a business man thinks of starting an immediate advertising campaign to bring them here.

But these are war times, times when the country needs every inch of its railroad facilities for necessary purposes, and if people who would otherwise come to California have decided that in a spirit of patriotism they will remain home this year, are we doing anything very patriotic to attempt to induce them to abandon their patriotic attitude?

War conditions are certain to affect thousands of us in a business way but we shall surely not grumble because we must face new conditions and should not go to the county and ask it to help us out with tax money raised from all the people of the county, many of whom are less capable of bearing the tax burdens than are we.

It may be hard for many of us to forego the profits derived from tourist traffic but it really isn't half as hard as it for the thousands of mothers to give up their sons for the great war in which we find ourselves engaged.

We must make up our minds that the longer the war continues the more difficult it is going to become for those engaged in certain lines of activity to make profits and we must make up our minds to face the trials ahead of us as business men with cheerfulness and fortitude equal to that which we expect of the lads who are going forth to fight for us.—Hollywood Citizen.

STORM WARNINGS FOR STOCKMEN

The Weather Bureau has for many years given warnings to stockmen in certain of the Western States of the approach of conditions injurious to stock, such as cold waves and high winds with heavy snow, cold rains during lambing season, etc. Arrangements have recently been perfected to disseminate these warnings in all the States and portions of States where the stock-raising industry is of sufficient extent and importance to justify special service for its benefit, particularly in the States of North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, northern California, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

The warnings will be issued as far in advance as possible, as a rule on the day preceding the occurrence of the conditions mentioned, and the Weather Bureau section directors of the respective States have arranged for their thorough distribution by means of the telegraph and telephone. Stock raisers not already included in the arrangement should apply to the section directors for this service.

gram of the evening was then given. It included three musical numbers, one a spirited composition entitled "Songs of the Nation" by Lampe, a medley of patriotic airs played with fine effect by the High School Orchestra. The other two were piano numbers by Mrs. Hagood which displayed her wonderful technique to great advantage. The first of these by a Russian composer, was entitled "The Elf Dance" and was a tone picture which the audience appreciated. The last and the closing number on the program was her own composition or musical description ot "Forty Horse Power" in an automo bile.

The speaker of the evening, Joseph Scott, was not easy to report because so much of the charm and force of his utterance (which completely captured the audience) was due to the way in which he said it and the placing of the emphasis. It was the man behind the guns of his oratory who won and held spellbound attention. Nevertheless he said things which are very good even in cold print. He laid great stress on our duty as a people to "hearten" our citizens of German blood and not to forget Carl Schurz and the thousands of his countrymen who shouldered arms and fought with us through our civil war. He would have us make these citizens with German names realize that this is their war for democracy as well as ours and that if they had not hated autocracy as much as we do, they would have remained on the other side of the water and not have sought the political freedom they enjoy here. He would have them feel that to fail to join us in sentiment and struggle is to go back upon their own ideals.

He spoke of the work of the exemption boards—his own work—as a petty sacrifice for the country in comparison with the sacrifice of the parents who are giving their sons, and he called upon every man and woman to do something really worth while by giving their money and their service, if they do not have to give their sons. "You want to feel," said he, "that you are in the game, that you are helping in this cause, that it is your war, your trouble and your fight."

RED CROSS AUXILIARY

A pleasant chatter of tongues accompanied the swiftly moving needles and the buzz of sewing machines at the headquarters of the Tropico Red Cross Auxiliary at its meeting Monday afternoon in the city building, corner of Brand and Tropico avenut, where the ladies were at work upon hospital garments. Before adjournment there was a drawing made by two children to determine the winners of the two quilts upon which chances had been sold. The "Dog Star" pattern quilt, which was in great request, was won by Mrs. Alma Dutton; the "Star Quilt" went to Mrs. Louis Baker. The sale of the two quilts netted the organization $13.20.

Both tables in the room devoted to the Surgical Dressings class of the Tropico Red Cross Auxiliary were filled at the Monday meeting and the ladies expressed great enthusiasm for the work. The chairman and instructor, Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., is greatly pleased with the work which is being turned out. The list of workers includes: Mrs. O. A. Gallup, Mrs. Ray Gallup and Miss Gallup, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Charles Scheu, Mrs. Robert Sanders, Mrs. Charles A. Barker, Mrs. S. E. Brown, Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. Henry Heide, Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, Mrs. O. J. Merrill.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS FROM HOME-GARDENING

My Dear Mrs. Woods:

I want to say thank you for myself and family for the spirit of home gardening which the Glendale Garden Society planted in our hearts last Spring.

I have always been a great lover of Nature and of the Out-of-Doors, but my efforts had been in the flower line—did not really think we had room enough to pay to try gardening nor that I had the strength. But when the girls came home all excited after hearing "Mrs. Woods' talk" and that "a man would plow the lot if they could find a vacant one"—of course I had to do the best I could. With so many to remember I do not expect you can recall each individual case, but we secured the use of the lot next the Christian Church, and six children agreed to farm it. That divided made a 50 ft. square for each two children. We put in a general home garden on our share, the others specialized more on corn and beans.

But I want to report what we did, and the end is not yet. The others do not care to undertake it again, so Esther, Gladys and I expect to put in the entire lot this year. We are still picking a few tomatoes, lima beans and egg plant, and could have more only we kept thinking it would surely rain. We want to put in all spuds at first and then follow with a general crop. Our water there costs practically nothing, as we simply agree to pay any over charges other than the dollar which the Church has to pay anyhow. Last August we moved so as to have less indoor space and more outdoor, and I immediately put in garden here. People told me it was too sandy for garden, but by this time my faith was great. So on the 12th of August I planted 5 pounds White Rose and 12 pounds Burbank spuds, and dug 120 pounds of spuds; we considered that pretty good. There would have been a great many more had I planted all White Rose, for we had almost 60 pounds from them alone. Also we are still having lima beans, wax beans, green peas, etc. from the home garden here, with a fine general garden coming on. Have just finished making seed beds—will raise our own tomatoes, sweet spuds, pepper and egg plants this year.

50 ft. square, vacant lot report—13 doz. ears corn, 96 lbs. green and wax beans, 500 lbs. ripe tomatoes, 50 lbs. green tomatoes, 96 lbs. sweet spuds, 35 lbs. lima beans. Of onions, ate all we wanted daily, and gathered 7 lbs. dry onions, 5 hills cucumbers, 50 ft. row turnips, 50 ft. row beets, 3 hills summer squash, 20 lbs. fruit from one egg plant. All we wanted of peppers.

The girls sold about $6 worth of produce. We exchanged some fruit to can. We gave away to those less fortunate than ourselves. We furnished all vegetables used on our home table from July 31 till late fall. We canned 52 quarts of tomatoes, put up several gallons of piccalilli. More than that, gained a great deal of experience which we expect to put into practice this coming season.

Expenses:

Water	$.05
Sweet spud plants	.75
Tomato plants	.15
Egg plant	.05
Onions	.10
Other seeds	.50
Total	$1.60

We had given us 18 tomato plants, pimiento, chili and pepper.

Yes, I will admit I am badly affected with the garden idea, it is certainly my hobby. But when you realize that from 101 pounds I now weigh 117½, have stopped completely my bi-monthly visits to the doctor, and not a drop of medicine in six months, why should I not be enthusiastic? Thanks to the Garden Society.

Sincerely,
MRS. DELOS JONES.
